

Studies for refugees at the University of Bergen fall semester 2022

The University of Bergen (UiB) offers admission for refugees residing in Western Norway to several programs and studies starting in August. You may apply throughout June and July.

Do you want to follow one or more courses this autumn? UiB now offers studies for refugees living in Bergen and the surrounding area, starting in August. You may apply for the following options:

- Single courses within the academic disciplines: Humanities, social sciences, law, psychology as well as medicine.
- Norwegian language and culture
- Master's degrees taught in English
- Studies at the Faculty of Fine Art, Music and Design

You may find detailed information regarding the application process, admission requirements as well as the course portfolio at the page UiB for refugees

